Success Story

Max and Mia felt completely overwhelmed when they suddenly lost their jobs and were evicted from their home. Unable to work due to a serious injury, Max recalls that with two young children, rent, medical bills, and the holidays fast approaching, it all became too much for them. They reached out to Inn from the Cold knowing they could get help any time day or night.

The family first moved into our emergency shelter program. Just before Christmas they were transitioned into the IFTC housing program. Thanks to the Adopt-A-Family care package they received, their first Christmas in their new home was stress free and memorable, with all of the food and gifts they needed to make the day extra special. The family stayed connected to IFTC for another two years, receiving support from a case manager.

The family is now living completely independently with the skills needed to be successful.
